Deflection pulley 532 0433 10, previous design (A) and new design (B)

The design of deflection pulley 532 0433 10 has been modified as part of our efforts to continuously develop our products.

In the new design, the plate and spacer (Image 1, A) are no longer delivered as individual items as was previously the case. These components have been integrated in the new variant (Image 1, B) and are now an integral part of the deflection pulley.

During the transition period, we may have mixed stocks of both types. Both versions meet the relevant technical specifications and can be used without restrictions.

Note:

The deflection pulleys under A and B (see image) must only be mounted using the bolt provided.

Pulley A: M10x45, hex. bolt with collar
Pulley B: M10x45, Torx bolt
